

Preston Hollow Presbyterian Church is blessed with a host of volunteers that work behind the scenes to accomplish so many tasks. There are countless ways to serve in the life of this church. If your gift is Hospitality, we invite you to consider serving in one of these ways.

Ambassadors

At PHPC, our Ambassadors serve in one of the most important ways possible. They extend the hand of Christ every single time they beam a smile, offer a hand, hold a door, or answer a question. To be an Ambassador, you don't even have to know your way around the church. You just have to have a desire to be a friendly, helpful ambassador for PHPC. If you would like more information about this opportunity, please contact Julie and Clay Young at cjulesyoung@sbcglobal.net.

Holy Rollers

There is one group at PHPC that is always rollin'. The Holy Rollers patrol our east-side parking lot on Sunday mornings to offer a golf-cart ride to the Atrium entrance to anyone who needs assistance or needs a ride. If you would like more information about volunteering, contact Don Fullrich at dwfullrich@yahoo.com.

Holy Joe's and Baker's Dozen

It's not just a cuppa-joe; it's a cuppa-joe from Joe; Holy Joes, that is! Paired with something tasty from Baker's Dozen, PHPC members have an opportunity for a wonderful start to their Sunday mornings. And all proceeds benefit PHPC missions. If you would like to work the Holy Joe's coffee and tea bar, send Tom Johnsrud a note at tomjohnsrud@yahoo.com. To help supply the baked goodies also served with the coffee, email Barbara Novotny at barbaranovotny@me.com.

Ushers' Guild

A welcoming smile is the most important skill requirement to work on the Ushers' Guild. Our teams work together once a month to hand out bulletins, answer questions, collect the offering, help worshipers find seats, and straighten the Sanctuary after services. If this skill set is up your alley, contact Jay Scholten at jay.p.scholten@gmail.com.

Visitor Phone Calls

Did someone reach out to you with a welcoming phone call when you first visited PHPC? Working on visitor phone calls may be just the way to share the warm feeling you had when were new to PHPC. If you would like to work with this important group, contact Mark Chandler at nandmchandler@aol.com.

Angels with Aprons

Angels with Aprons provides small meals and cookies to members who are homebound. If you love to cook, and would like to share your delicious meals and sweets with others, please pick up containers in the closet across from Emmanuel Hall. You may place your full containers in the Parlor kitchen freezer. Contact Gretchen Hamm at gretchen_hamm@yahoo.com for more information.

New Member Advocates

When you're a new member, it's sometimes difficult to find your place at the church. New Member Advocates are assigned to each class of new members to help. The Advocates keep in close contact with the new members for the first six months or so and help them find groups and projects that they might feel called to join. If you would like to form a close relationship with several new members, contact Diane Fullrich at connect@phpc.org.
